

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MechoSystems Releases Its Little Red Book

Milton Keynes, UK – MechoSystems' new, compact Little Red Book contains over 60 solar, blackout and dimout roller blind shade cloths of various openness factors, colours and widths. All samples are flame retardant and meet the requirements of the British Standards Institution. The booklet is now available and gives MechoSystems' clients the opportunity to choose a shade cloth based on:

- Colour.
- Stocking width.
- Touch and feel.

The swatch booklet is a compact design that fits comfortably in your hand. Each sample is labeled on the back, identifying the shade cloth's:

- Percent openness.
- Colour.
- Certifications (PVC free, C2C, etc.).
- Warp direction (indicated with an arrow).

Many of the solar varieties range from 1% openness (suitable for privacy roller blind applications) to 5% open (appropriate for tinted glazing or other façade considerations). There is also a variety of yarns and weaves in different textures. A diverse colour palette includes bright white to beige, brown, grey and black, providing a complementary selection for almost every interior décor and colour scheme. Swatches are arranged from light to dark, aiding in comparison.

One specialty shade cloth, AcoustiVeil, has acoustic properties to decrease sound reverberations. It is ideal for conference rooms or meeting areas. The blackout and dimout shade cloth section features four different series.

A Shade cloth Selection Guide is included in the Little Red Book and aids in selecting the ideal shade cloth. The Guide provides information needed to understand and calculate the correlation between roller blind shade cloth openness, window glazings and solar transmittance.

The Little Red Book will simplify the task of choosing a shade cloth. All swatches flip out, and A4 samples may easily be ordered. This compact, unified sampling of MechoSystems shade cloths is available to designers by calling +44 (0) 1908 361310, or by sending an email request to: samples@mechosystems.com.
